

Join the Nobel Laureates Pro-GMO campaign

110 Nobel Laureates have written an open letter to Greenpeace and every UN Ambassador urging an acknowledgment that GMO technology is basically safe and should be supported for the sake of the Developing World, who desperately need better yielding crops with added nutritional value.

We need as much support as we can get to make this campaign a success. Please check the website and join us by signing on. We all need to speak out if we are to stop the lies and misrepresentation of science that are being promoted by the GMO opposition.
